

Love

Love is a force that cannot be contained,
A feeling that's both wild and untamed.
It's a fire that burns, bright and unashamed,
And a light that guides us, as we're unframed.

Love is a bond that's forged from the heart,
A connection that lasts, even when we're apart.
It's a feeling that's hard to import
But it's unmistakeable, from the very start.

With love in our hearts, we're never alone
For it's a feeling that's shared and widely known.
It's a light that shines, and guides us home,
And a feeling that's pure, like a newly grown.

